

Hurricane Helene Update

B. Braun Medical's IV fluids manufacturing plant in Daytona Beach, Florida was not impacted by Hurricane Helene and is operating normally. We have proactively placed IV fluids and nutrition products on a protective allocation at 100%.

We will provide further updates on how we plan to support providers and patients in the event of a prolonged market shortage for IV fluid, dialysis and nutrition products due to hurricane damage to Baxter's plant in North Carolina.

Internal, cross-functional teams are now dedicated to monitoring all facets of this situation and taking all available steps to address it. We are also working with our GPO partners and government agencies to support the response effort with the products manufactured at both our Florida and California IV fluids plants.
