Subject: Tornado damage to Reckitt / Mead Johnson Nutrition Warehouse

Dear Healthcare Partner,

We would like to report that on Tuesday, July 9, 2024, a tornado struck our warehouse located in Mount Vernon, Indiana. The warehouse sustained significant damage. We are grateful and relieved to confirm that all employees are safe and express our deepest sympathy for those in the community who have been affected by the tornado.

The Mount Vernon warehouse is one of several warehousing facilities we operate across the United States. While the Mount Vernon warehouse is currently out of operation, the rest of our warehouses are all operating normally, as are all our manufacturing facilities. We have diverted all inbound deliveries to our other U.S. warehousing facilities.

While recovery efforts are already underway, it is likely over the next month or two that there will be some interruptions in supply and sampling. We are working closely with all our stakeholders including customers and suppliers, to minimize disruption, by leveraging our global supply chain and managing inventory at our other North American Nutrition warehouses.

We will provide updates as more information becomes available. If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact your local Mead Johnson Nutrition sales representative.

Please know that even in this difficult time, we are committed to providing you with the best service possible and will work hand in hand with you to find feeding solutions for your patients.

Thank you for your patience in the short term as we work through this natural disaster.

Warm regards,

Cindy Hasseberg, Ph.D., R.D.
