

Notice: 3M to Solventum Brand Update Notification

January 2026,

Dear Valued Customer,

On April 1st, 2024, Solventum successfully spun off from 3M to become an independent, publicly traded company and dedicated global healthcare leader.

As a result, we will be updating the branding of the products listed in the table below, including packaging, formal product names, and associated product content. For a comprehensive list of what will change, please see the table and data download links below.

It is important to note that the products in scope will have no change to their design, safety, efficacy, or performance as a result of this rebranding.

Solventum will continue to sell the 3M branded products to existing customers until the inventory is depleted. Existing inventory can still be used and sold by distributors as long as there is stock available and within current shelf-life designations. As the transition date for each product approaches, there will be a point where the phased-out 3M branded product(s) will no longer be available for purchase, and orders will transition to the new Solventum phased-in products. Our customer service team can help navigate through the specific details of this transition.

Returns are subject to standard Solventum Medical Surgical Business return policies.

Please contact your local representative, or Solventum Health Care Customer Helpline at 800-228-3957 if you have any questions or concerns.
